REASONS FOR FAMILY TRAVEL

1. ALLOWS YOU TO RE-CONNECT

Everyone's family gets caught up in it. The daily grind of work, school, activities and too much screen time. A vacation allows you time to just be together and create new memories.

2. CREATES A TEAM

Often times at home, we are all working towards our own goals. Be it a promotion for parents at work, or making the honor role for kids. A family vacation pulls everyone together for the same purpose, to have FUN!

3. NEW CULTURES

Sometimes we forget that all our kids know is the "bubble" we surround them in at home. By taking your child on vacation, it allows them to see and experience how other people live and broaden their view of the world. And kids love to see how other kids live, play and go to school!

4. LIFETIME MEMORIES

There is nothing better than creating those moments on a vacation that your family will carry with them for a lifetime. Being able to remember and re-connect on those experiences even when you are back home, will build a stronger future family bond.

5. GOOD LIFE SKILLS

Teaching your kids how to travel provides them with examples for real-life problem solving. Inevitably flights will get delayed, hotels won't be able to find your reservation or that tour you booked will be cancelled. Allowing your kids to experience these bumps along with you and then showing them how to adapt, is a great moment to teach patience and flexibility.

6. IT'S FUN

Exploring ancient history, riding the subway for the first time, finding a hidden beach full of great shells, or tasting the best gelato in Italy is FUN! Traveling is good for the body and soul and why not share that with your family?
